Otten and Dresser propose 79-lot Newry subdivision

By ALISON ALOISIO

A 79-lot, 120-acre subdivision, proposed by Sunday River Land Corp., was presented to the public at a hearing in Newry Monday.

Dutch Dresser, who is president of the corporation, described the plan to about two dozen people as part of an informational meeting required by the Maine Department of Environmental Protection.

Less Otten is the primary principal in the company, which has no connection to Sunday River Ski Resort.

The information currently available on the subdivision is general in nature. It has not yet been submitted to the Newry Planning Board.

The development would be located in the area between the Sunday River Fire Station and the Monkey Brook Road intersection, along the Sunday River Road.

It would be accessed from the road by a single private road. The lots would range in size between one and seven acres.

Of the 79 lots, 23 would abut the road. Asked if there would be a vegetation buffer between the lots and the main road, Dresser said there were no formal plans for one at this time, "but it would make great sense for everyone."

He said the view for the homes would look away from the road, toward Sunday River Ski Resort.

Covenants will be developed for the subdivision, he said.

The property abuts the resort, as well as property owned by the Mahoosuc Land Trust

Volunteers sought for river monitoring

By ALISON ALOISIO

Volunteers are needed for a new program to monitor the water quality of the Androscoggin River in the Bethel area.

Monitoring will also take place along the rest of the 174-mile length of the river.

The Androscoggin River Watershed Council has recently received a grant from a small family foundation with strong ties to the region to fund the effort, according to an ARWC press release.

Volunteers will receive several hours of training in mid-May, and will start monitoring shortly thereafter, according to Barbara Barrett, interim executive director of ARWC.

Possible local sites for testing include Gleed, West Bethel (near the boat launch), and Davis Park in Bethel, she said.

Testing will likely take place weekly. She said she hopes there will be enough volunteers to share responsibilities as a team.

"We'll see how the first year goes," said Barrett, "and see how many volunteers we can recruit. It may take time to cultivate it."

ARWC hopes to identify specific existing or emerging water quality problems, identify changes or trends over time, and provide timely and high-quality data to the public, state officials, school groups and other organizations. The data will help determine the effects of water quality on hu-

Monday morning accident closes Route 2 for four hours

By ALISON ALOISIO

A four-vehicle accident near Bethel's Best Monday morning closed Route 2 for four hours, but resulted in only minor injuries to two people.

A 1998 Dodge Neon driven by Theresa Perry, 77, of Rumford collided with a tractor trailer hauling a piece of heavy equipment at about 10:45 a.m., according to Bethel Police Dept. Sgt. S.R. White.

The accident was the result of a chain reaction of events. A pickup truck traveling west slowed to allow another westbound vehicle to turn left.

Perry, following the pickup, also slowed, but Douglas Swan, 19, of Bethel, also driving a pickup, did not see her slow down and rear-ended the Neon.

Perry was pushed ahead into the rear of a trailer being hauled by the pickup ahead of her, and then into the eastbound lane, where her car was struck by the oncoming 18-wheeler. The rig ended up off the eastbound lane in a homeowner's yard.

Perry was taken to Rumford Hospital by Bethel Rescue, where she was treated and released.

The driver of the tractor trailer, Daniel Morrison, 61, of Wakefield, Mich. was taken by Tri-Town Rescue to Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway, where he was treated and released. None of the occupants of the other vehicles was injured.

The Bethel Fire Department also responded to the scene for cleanup and traffic control. Approximately 50 gallons of diesel fuel spilled from the 18-wheeler's fuel tanks.

The Gilead Fire Department rerouted traffic over

CHAMBER AWARDDEES

To the Editor:

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is pleased to have the opportunity each year to recognize deserving community servants, a Bethel area business that has made significant strides in the past year, a forest products industry entrepreneur, and a few excellent employees who have made extraordinary contributions to their workplaces.

On Friday, May 12, the 37th annual Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Awards Dinner, sponsored by W.J. Wheeler Co., Inc., Oxford Networks, and Sunday River, will be held at the Grand Summit Hotel at Sunday River Ski Resort. All are welcomed to attend the dinner. The cost is $30 per person for a complete buffet dinner, from "appetizer to dessert." Tables of eight are available for groups. For reservations, RSVP to the chamber office at 824-2282 no later than Monday, May 8. Payment options include credit cards, check or cash, and prepayment is appreciated. Social hour begins at 6 p.m. accompanied by a terrific silent auction, featuring dozens of items donated by chamber members and friends. The dinner will be served promptly at 7 p.m.

We are pleased to announce and congratulate the following businesses and individuals for their selection as recipients this year.

Jonathan and Kate Goldberg, owners of True North Adventureware, are being presented the 2006 Business of the Year Award. They recently completed renovation of a beautiful new store on Route 26 south of Bethel village, which they hope will be their permanent location for years to come. They have been in business for nearly 18 years here in Bethel.

The Forest Products Industry Award is going this year to George Nickerson, a 25-year veteran of the Bethel Sawmill, across two ownerships: P.H. Chadbourne Co. and now Hancock Lumber. George's entrepreneurial spirit, his mentoring abilities to his coworkers, and his devotion to the community of Bethel are also assets that led to his selection.

The Lifetime Achievement Award is being presented to Ken and Alice McInnis of Bryant Pond. They have been integral to the operations of the Maine Conservation School in one capacity or another since 1957.

Steve Wight of Newry will be the recipient of the 2006 Henry H. Hastings Award for Citizenship. Besides being first selectman of the town of Newry for many years, Steve has served the state of Maine on the Land Use Regulation Commission, and he has either been the founder or is currently serving in the leadership of dozens of community and regional organizations.

Rocky Freda, of Sun Valley Sports and Guide Services, will be presented the President's Award, for his devotion and service to the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. Rocky has served on the chamber's Executive Committee for four years, and is the immediate past president of the Board of Directors. He has served on the Marketing Committee and the Strategic Planning Committee and has volunteered hundreds, if not thousands, of hours to the organization during his tenure.

The 2006 Public Service Award will be given to a quiet but extraordinarily diligent community worker, Gary Wight of Newry. Gary has been the Newry fire chief for several years and has been integral in the success of that organization. He was pivotal in the planning of the Newry Bicentennial celebration, too. Gary has also been a tireless servant to the athletic programs at Telstar High School and is a much loved and devoted coach.

The chamber presents Employee of the Year Awards in four categories. Receiving the Education Award is John Emery, a fifth-grade teacher at Andover Elementary School and a 33-year veteran of the educational profession. Doreen Kenyon, head of housekeeping at the Sudbury Inn, is being presented the Hospitality Employee of the Year. She is being cited by her employers as a tireless worker, well organized, devoted and, at the same time, cheerful and upbeat. Receiving the 2006 Retail & Service Employee of the Year is Charles Dutterer, a 15-year veteran of Bennett Automotive. Chuck truly cares about the customers and their automobiles, exuding positive dedication to his work. The 2006 Ski Industry Employee of the Year is being shared this year by two gentlemen who have proven themselves to be partners in the reliability of the snow conditions at Sunday River Ski Resort. Andrew Bresette is snowmaking manager and Alan Lowe is grooming manager. They are being cited as pivotal in managing their staff this past winter (and for the past 15 years) to go above and beyond in the most challenging winter in recent memory.

The chamber also presents three Telstar Regional High School Students with awards. Danna Wilson of Bethel, daughter of Jodie and Doug Wilson, is receiving the Taste of Bethel Award in her pursuit of post-secondary training in the culinary arts. Two students will be presented with Student Citizenship Awards: Margaret Duplessis, daughter of Richard and Carole Duplessis of Mason Township and Brandon Costello, son of Jane Daniels of Bethel. All these students were selected by the staff at Telstar and have been cited as exemplary individuals.

Each year, the chamber presents a Volunteer of the Year Award, which is the only presentation that is a surprise during the evening.

The emcee of the event will be Dr. David Murphy of Bethel. Dave is a terrific host and promises to make the evening memorable to all who attend. Remember, all community members are welcome to RSVP by May 8 to reserve a seat at this wonderful celebration.

THEY SHOULD PLAY BY OUR RULES

To the Editor:

Yes, there is much demonstration throughout our country concerning immigration during these days and much discussion in Washington, D.C. What should we do about it?

I was born and raised in Niagara Falls, N.Y., a border city next to Canada. My father was a customs inspector on the bridge as people came into the United States from Canada. As a customs inspector he was under the Treasury Department of the federal government.

Many Saturday mornings, when my father was not working, we would enter Canada to Tony Florantino's, who sold fresh dressed chickens at the farmers' market for a couple pounds of cheese.

As we entered Canada they would ask us two questions: 1) Where were you born, and/or, of what country are you a citizen? 2) Why are you entering Canada?

When we returned into the United States we were asked: 1) Where were you born, and/or, of what country are you a citizen? 2) Do you have anything to declare?

It is simple as all that. If we were to enter Mexico, there would probably be similar questions asked of us. When we have traveled to Europe we would need to have our passports up to date. We have always traveled with a group, so it was simpler than if we were entering as an individual.

I know that many people do not want to enter our country illegally and that is why all the demonstration. Last week was April 15 and a deadline for our income tax for the federal government and the state of Maine. Most, if not all, illegal aliens do not pay income tax and thus we have to pay more.

Let's demonstrate against paying income tax to the state and federal government as good citizens of our state and federal government and see how far we would get. Oxford County jail would be full in no time or we would be fined for back taxes.

The bottom line is that illegal aliens do not want to play by the rules. Perhaps many of you who read this disagree with me. Let us hear from you.

OUR CREATIVE ECONOMY

To the Editor:

It's been nearly a year since the Greater Bethel Community sat down to discuss "Our Creative Community." Last April 23, more than 50 community members met for a daylong Citizens' Community Conference to envision a local creative economy. Taking stock of what has been done in the community since the conference, it turns out, a lot has happened in a year.

As early as last summer, the Bethel area community caught the attention of Governor John Baldacci for its creative economy work. Community member Lucia Colombaro was appointed to the statewide Creative Economy Council in November, bringing the concerns and considerations of rural creative economy development to the state level conversation. The Bethel area is being featured in the statewide Creative Economy Council's report to the Maine State Legislature this spring. It will also serve as a case study in a creative economy handbook being produced by the Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD), due out next fall.

Last July, SAD44 Adult and Community Education began the Creative Economy Education Initiative (CEEI). Jean Waite, Adult and Community Education director, describes the purpose of CEEI as "giving local creative workers an earning opportunity and exposure through teaching while providing the community with higher caliber creative-based instruction and learning opportunities."

Since September, thirty-four different "creatives": local artists, heritage crafters, digital media folks and holistic health and creative movement practitioners, have offered courses through this new program. Over 300 community members have attended courses on topics that have not been offered previously.

Another key idea that came out of last year's conference is called the "Community Campus." The idea is to inventory all the available spaces in the school district, starting with the schools and municipal spaces, and then expanding to include all other under-used or unused spaces. Managed through the Adult and Community Education office, the database of spaces, still being compiled, is an easy reference point for community members who want to do something but need space to be able to take the first step. It gives new ideas and projects a chance to test themselves and take root while lowering the barriers to getting started.

The latest point of evolution in the local effort is a partnership that has been formed between SAD44 Adult and Community Education/CEEI, the Mahoosuc Arts Council and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. A formal partnership, these three entities are working together to further the economic, cultural and community development of the area using education as a key tool. The Bethel model is being touted as an outstanding example of community cohesion. The strength of the Bethel partnership is the most noteworthy component of the model.

This is not all. Exciting new endeavors like the Maine Performing Arts Festival have come to life in this year. The 5th annual Midsummer Festival and Sculpture Race, long endorsed by the Mahoosuc Arts Council, has partnered with CEEI to give the annual event, a celebration of creativity, art and science held the Sunday closest to the Summer Solstice, more long-term sustainability. The Northern Forest Center is launching its Ways of Woods traveling exhibit sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities in Bethel this fall. Sustainable Western Maine, another offshoot of last year's conference, is an organization teaching about alternative and energy efficient building and fuel consumption as a way of addressing the need for affordable housing. The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce has begun conversations with local farmers, artists and holistic health workers to explore ways to better support their businesses and their part in the local economy.

The summer season is chock full of events and activities in the Bethel area. Meanwhile, the community is busily weaving together its creative economy. To get involved or to learn more, contact the Adult and Community Education office at 824-2780 or ceei@sad44.org, the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce at 824-2282 or info@bethelmaine.com or the Mahoosuc Arts Council at 824-3575 or vicki.rackliffe@gouldacademy.org.

BUTTERFLIES: HABITS AND HABITAT

To the Editor:

At 7 p.m. on April 26 at the McLaughlin Science Center of Gould Academy, come fly with us into a land of Monarchs and Swallowtails. Learn of the monarch's amazing migration, the nectaring sources of butterflies, and see beautiful slides of all the many fascinating aspects of these lovely, winged insects which grace our gardens and fields all summer long.

Our speaker is Jerry Schneider, who was raised in Ohio, spent many years in Montana and now resides in Vermont. Butterflies are, and always have been, his passion and he has presented programs for children and adult audiences from Vermont to Virginia and into the Midwest. He serves on the Steering Committee of the Vermont Butterfly Atlas Project which studies butterfly populations. In addition to hearing this interesting presentation, our speaker will have available for purchase his "Butterfly Game," which received the National Parenting Publications Award in 2002. So, put away your snow shovels, think "Spring" and join us for a fly-away evening into the world of butterflies.

The Mahoosuc Land Trust is proud to present Mr. Schneider with his unique expertise as the final program of this season's Local Knowledge Series.

FAIRY GODMOTHER BALL

To the Editor:

The Fairy Godmother Ball is happening on May 12. This is a dress-up "fun" fundraiser for women who would like to support the mission of the Western Maine Girls Association to promote programs for girls that raise self-esteem.

Some invitations have been sent out; however, if we missed you please forgive us and give a call at 824-3459 and we'll get one right out to you. The initial event is limited to 35, so it is important to reserve your spot. Don't let not having an old prom dress get in the way of coming, we will have some on hand.

Briefly

Don't shoot the llamas

FOR THE RECORD—The article on feral llamas in the March 30 edition of The Citizen was our annual April Fool piece. To the best of our knowledge there are no feral llamas in the White Mountain National Forest, or anywhere else in this part of the world.

It's 'Greenleaf Station'

BETHEL—The Bethel Board of Selectmen voted unanimously Monday to name the Bethel ambulance barn in honor of the Greenleaf family, whose members have served the ambulance service for three quarters of a century. The name had been proposed by current director Cheryl Bennett. At a meeting earlier this month the selectmen expressed support for naming the station, but they put off any action in order to allow more time for public input. They indicated Monday that all the input they subsequently received had been positive.

Backhoe purchase approved

WOODSTOCK—At a special Town Meeting Tuesday, three dozen voters overwhelmingly approved the purchase of a backhoe that the town has been leasing for six years. Voters approved raising $30,000 to cover the cost of the backhoe and $2,000 for new tires. At the annual Town Meeting in March, residents turned down an article to lease a new backhoe at a cost of $14,000 a year, double what the town had been paying. The purchase will increase the mill rate 12 more than the lease would have. Some voters suggested taking the difference out of the town's $300,000 Surplus Account, but Town Manager Vern Maxfield said that would make less money available to lower taxes in future years. Former selectman Leon Poland said that while he had favored the lease as he helped to prepare this year's municipal budget proposal, he believed voters should affirm the decision made at the annual Town Meeting. A second article on the special Town Meeting warrant gave voters a second chance to approve the lease. It was defeated. New selectman Rick Young said it would be important to keep up good maintenance on the backhoe over the next five years.

Filmmaker celebration here

BETHEL—The Celebration of Maine Filmmakers' traveling program is coming to Bethel on Thursday, April 27. The Celebration will bring award-winning Maine made films and Maine filmmakers to Bingham Hall at Gould Academy for a 7 p.m. film screening and discussion. The event is free and open to the public. The celebration of Maine Filmmakers' program was developed by the Maine Film Office, the Maine Film Commission, The Maine Film and Video Association and the Maine International Film Festival (MIFF) in Waterville. The annual program, which is presented as part of MIFF, includes competitions for best Maine made documentary and short film; screenplay seminars and competitions; and other cinema related events. With the help of a grant from the Maine Community Foundation, the film office last year created a traveling version of the Celebration to bring Maine films and Maine filmmakers to a broader audience in the state. Celebration events have taken place in Camden, South Portland, Machias, and Skowhegan. The Bethel event will be the final one for the 2005–2006 season. In addition to the evening screening on April 27, the Celebration has also organized a high school program for students from Gould Academy and Telstar Regional High School. The Bethel programs are presented with the assistance of the Mahoosuc Arts Council. For more information, contact the Maine Film Office at 624-9827.

Maine Wildlife Park opens

GRAY—The Maine Wildlife Park in Gray opened Saturday, April 15. The park is open daily through Nov. 11 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; with visitors not having to leave the park until 6 p.m. The 200-acre park has over 25 different species of wildlife on exhibit, including moose, black bear, fisher, lynx, mountain lions, white-tailed deer, wild turkeys, hawks, owls, trout, turtles and more. Guests visiting the park will see the new, spacious coyote exhibit. White-tailed deer are enjoying their new 3-acre enclosure. The moose are comfortable in their spacious habitat as well. Currently a brand new, state-of-the-art eagle exhibit is under construction, as well as a new dual exhibit for the red and gray foxes. Last year, close to 90,000 people visited the park, despite the rather rainy and unpredictable weather of 2005. In addition to the variety of wildlife displays, there are nature trails, a visitor's center with a number of interactive wildlife and conservation exhibits, demonstration wildlife gardens, a show fish pool, picnic and grill areas, and a snack shack. Visitors can also walk to the Dry Mills Fish Hatchery to view brook trout. The Nature Store is always a popular stop for great wildlife gifts, books, T-shirts, hats and educational items. For school kids and their teachers, there are wildlife education programs offered Tuesdays and Thursdays in May, June, September and October. Additional wildlife displays and programs are offered to the general public Saturdays from May through September. Guided tours are available for groups by appointment. Over 3,000 people took part in the wildlife educational programs and guided tours offered at the park in 2005. The Maine Wildlife Park is open from April 15 through November 11 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily. Visitors are allowed to leave the park until 6 p.m., leaving plenty of time for an after-work cook out with your family. Call 287-8000 for more information or 657-4977 x 1 to listen to the recorded message with current program information. Or visit us on the web at www.mainewildlifepark.com. Admission is $5.00 for adults, $3.25 ages 4-12, and children 3 and under are free. There are special prices for groups of 15 and more, and ages 60+ pay $4 for admission. There are many opportunities to volunteer at the Maine Wildlife Park, including Gate Attendants and Tour Guides. Training sessions have been scheduled for the different positions. Please call Curtis Johnson at the Maine Wildlife Park, 657-4977, to sign up or learn more about volunteer opportunities. The Maine Wildlife Park is located off the Maine Turnpike (I-95) on Exit 63 on Route 26 in Gray, and is operated by the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Watch for this moose

At 3:35 p.m. on April 18 Officer Mac McCormick was requested by dispatch to contact a subject regarding an artificial moose that had been stolen from her residence on Tuckers Way. The moose stands seven feet tall, and is about the same length. The complainant said it had apparently been taken between April 8 and 10. Its estimated replacement cost is $1,200.

Monday, April 17

At 7:45 p.m. Officer Mac McCormick responded to a business for a report of found drug paraphernalia. A hypodermic needle had been found among other items.

Sunday, April 16

At 7:55 p.m. Officer T.J. Reese assisted a county deputy with a suspicious subject on the Patte Brook Road.

At 4:30 p.m. Officer T.J. Reese assisted Bethel Rescue with a call.

Saturday, April 15

At 10:15 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White warned a subject on Route 26 for hitchhiking at night.

At 5 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White responded to the skateboard park for a report of juveniles riding on the covered bridge. They were warned to stay off the bridge.

At 9:40 a.m. Sgt. S.R. White took a report of a theft of fuel from an Intervale Road location.

At 12 a.m. Officer Mac McCormick found a gray, Motiv 6061 Series mountain bike on Cross Street. The bike was brought to the PD to try to locate the owner.

At 1:45 p.m. Sgt. S.R. White assisted a county deputy on Route 2 in Gildead with four subjects who were giving the deputy false information. Two were arrested and two taken to the hospital for evaluation.

Friday, April 14

At 12:15 a.m. Officer Mac McCormick assisted a county deputy with a single vehicle accident on the Sunday River Road.

Thursday, April 13

At 5:30 p.m. Officer T.J. Reese served a subject on Vernon Street with a protection order.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists cases reported in the log of adults being arrested or issued a summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of police activity, such as routine speeding tickets and other civil violations. little research, check out one such sign on Route 26 in Poland, and take the matter up again at their next meeting.

But Selectman Don Bennett cautioned that simply posting signs might not do the trick.

Once the signs are up the rule needs to be enforced.

"It becomes an enforcement issue, and that's where the bugaboo has been," he said.

And even without their Jake brakes trucks can be pretty noisy, he noted.

"It's entirely possible to have a truck that isn't using his Jake brakes and still make an awful lot of noise. Some of them really like that stuff," he said.

Echoes in Woodstock
The Jake brake issue also came up this week at the Woodstock selectmen's meeting.

Jack Brooks asked the board to put up a sign banning the use of the brakes on Route 26 between the baseball fields and the village. He said the brakes can be heard by residents along Lake Christopher.

The speed limit drops to 30 mph along the stretch and, Brooks estimated, about one third of large trucks use their Jake brakes to slow down.

"It's loud, and I don't think it's necessary," he said.

Selectman Rick Young, who lives on the other side of the lake, said he can hear the brakes as the sound echoes across the back side of the lake.

Brooks said if signs are put up, he doesn't expect a lot of enforcement, but "at least it may stop the thoughtful [truckers] who read the signs."

As for some of the other truckers, he said, "they're like Harley [motorcycle] riders — they like the sound, and those you probably won't get rid of."

Town Manager Vern Maxfield said he would research a sample Jake brake ordinance for the board to consider at its next meeting.

to vote to change its funding formula, and the school boards for the three districts would have to agree to the plan.

While SAD44 may save money on Adult Education, down the road it will share in the cost of a proposed addition to the Region 9 building.

An early proposal called for a $7.2 million expansion. But the proposal under consideration now is in the $5 million range, Murphy said.

Discussion of program expansion has also been scaled back. The Region 9 board and the member superintendents are now considering the possible addition of no more than two programs.

"The process has slowed down dramatically," Murphy told SAD44 directors.

Any plans to expand the building would be based on the expanded programs, he said.

The earliest an addition might go to referendum before the three districts' voters would be November, Murphy said.

man health, fish and wildlife. Barrett said the program will not only identify problems, but should also illustrate how good the water quality is in some areas.

She said she anticipates this area will have some of the best quality water, noting that "from Shelburne down is such a popular section [for recreation]."

There has been no regular monitoring of the river here in years, she said. Farther downstream, in the Gulf Island Pond area, there has been close scrutiny.

Barrett said all volunteers are welcome to participate in the program, including school groups who would like to incorporate it into their science curriculum.

The testing program will run from spring to fall.

The ARWC hopes to eventually expand the monitoring program to tributaries of the Androscoggin.

and the Hamill family.

The land has been logged recently, Dresser said, "but there is a lot of mature wood still standing. The intent is for [the subdivision] to remain wooded to a significant extent."

The interior roads would be paved. The plan shows a short spur road ending at the back of the property, "just in case something happened in that direction," Dresser said.

The development would be phased. Dresser estimated the state and local approval process could take about seven months.

A model home may go up this summer on one of the lots, he said.

cluded Linda's daughter, Alicia McLean, and her neighbor, Sharon Leighton, both of Gilead.

Fernand and Beverley Corriveau celebrated Easter early with their family with a gathering at their home. A majority of the family was present and the children had a great time hunting for the 128 Easter eggs that were hidden. Bev reports that all but two of them were found. There were four special eggs that were found by Austin; Cheyenne and Mallory found two. They also included a birthday celebration for Angie Lovejoy. It sounds like everyone had a great time.

There were a couple of Gilead children who belong to Cub Scouts who have recently crossed over to Bears. They are Calvin Glover, son of Jason and Belinda Glover, and Fabian Corriveau, son of Fabian and Carole Corriveau. Their grandmother, Beverley Corriveau, attended the ceremony along with other family members.

Gilead Town Office

The selectmen met on April 12 for their regular monthly meeting. Toni Seger was present to comment on the Route 113 scenic byway. She left material for the selectmen to look over and decide if they want to support this project. Also present at the meeting was David Head, Richard Saunders and myself. Discussions included deeds and property lines, training for animal control officer, and finances. Richard reported that he had attended a training that is required for animal control officers and it went quite well. On financial matters, the selectmen decided to invest the amount of money, required by the state for education, in a CD and to roll the interest over with it.

Historical Society

Hugh and I went to Shelburne, N.H., recently and visited with Roma Hayes and her husband, Roland. Roma is the granddaughter of Prescott Bennett, who lived in Gilead in the early 1920s on a farm that was located just around the curve on Route 2 heading toward Bethel. She had a few pictures of the buildings. Leon Cranmer, Maine Historic Preservation Commission, is gathering information for another Archaeological Survey and wanted some more pictures and background on the lot.

I would also like to remind people to check out the Bethel Historical Society's website. Besides the Gilead information that Randy Bennett has been putting on there, check out the link titled "The Bethel Journals." There is lots of great information about the area that has been compiled by Donald Bennett.

This week's bit of history comes from those journals. "March. T.G. Lary and the Richardson boys have nearly one million of spruce on the river. Wild River Lumber Co. is sending away large amounts of long lumber. Saw them loading six cars at the depot in one day."

"Skilling's mill is shut down for a few days. Walter Davis is running a bolter at J.W. Bennett's mill."

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The ice went out of Howard Pond on Easter Sunday, April 16. Gatekeeper

Frank Morrison has returned home and has closed the gate at the dam. The water level continues to rise although more slowly than years when there was more snow in the hills above the pond.

Richard and Barbara Burns have returned from their southern travels. Their first project was to replace their hot water heater that began leaking while they were gone.

The major fundraiser for the Rumford Point Community Athletic Association, a bottle drive, will take place on Saturday, April 22. If you are not going to be home on Saturday, please leave bottles outside or they can be dropped off at the baseball field on Martin Road. Funds raised help to maintain the field and purchase equipment. Don't forget the cleanup day on Sunday, April 30, at the ball field.

Construction of a new house on Ferry Road has begun. It is expected to be the home of Scott Terkelson. Several other new homes are planned in Hanover this year.

Reports of visits by the marauding bear continue throughout the area. It is suggested pet food and garbage be kept inside and that birdfeeders should be cleaned out and left empty until natural foods for the bears develop in the woods.

West Paris

After a day on three different planes, with an extra delayed hold over in Denver, Colo., I am now in Santa Fe, N.M., visiting my son, Allen Lamb, and his wife, Myrna. The homes here are mostly stucco and tan colored to blend in with the sandy soil. Temperatures are in the 50s and 60s and up in the 70s during the day. There is usually a nice warm breeze. No rain for they are in a long drought.

Spring is here for the Western bluebirds and stellar bluebirds are busy building nests. One couple has a hole on the patio in the molding near the ceiling. The male and female carry straw in and a flicker comes and removes it. The next day they repeated this. We wonder who will win out to lay eggs and hatch them. There are two bluebird houses nearby which are active. Several quail visit each day for water and bird feed. A jackrabbit hops across the front lawn each afternoon or evening. Early mornings small cottontail rabbits hop around and also eat scattered birdseed. The rabbits like tulip plants and keep them gnawed to the ground. There is very little food for them and no green grass.

Activities here include walking a few of the dirt roads in this huge development. There are several houses being constructed. No basements here. The electric, telephone, and cable wires are underground. The Georgia O'Keeffe Museum has been enlarged with more of her works to view. She captured the mountains and valleys with their many colors. She is noted for her single-blossom large paintings.

At the Palace of the Governors we enjoyed an informational guided tour. The original building is very old; built even before New Mexico was a part of the United States. The sidewalks in front of the huge building are lined with native people sitting on the ground selling their homemade jewelry and pottery displayed on blankets.

Most restaurants serve conventional as well as Mexican food. Posole with pork soup was good, and I will try to make it when I return home. The basic ingredient is hominy. Served with it was a dessert called sopapilla, a crispy, puffy deep-fried pastry. Honey is poured over it and it was delicious.

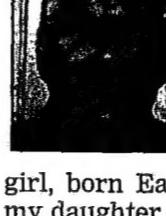

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, April 23, the Rev. Peter Richardson will be the guest minister. The service is at 9 a.m. followed by a coffee hour. Jim Burke is organist. All are welcome.

I have a second week here then on the plane again and on to Oakland, Ore., via Portland, Ore., to visit my young daughter, Wendy.

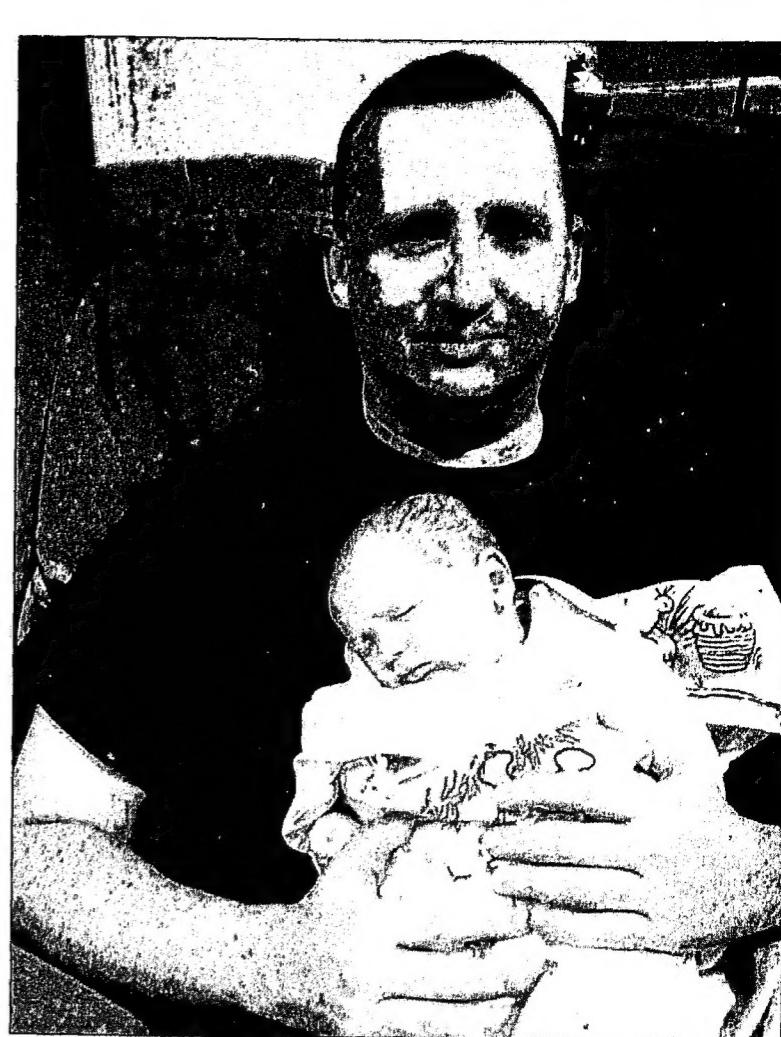

Son Ken and Grandson Kyle will be taking good care of Buffy. I hope he eats well while I am away.

We are now the proud grandparents of a brand new baby girl, born Easter morning to my daughter, Anita, and husband, Dan. Little Sierra and her mother are both doing well and came home about 5 p.m. Monday, April 17. Anita was resting when we arrived shortly after 6 p.m., but Dan filled us in on all the essential details.

During our travels, we happened on several interesting signs, which evoked questions in our minds about what was going on in the minds of those who put the signs up. While in Colorado, we drove to Rocky Mountain National Park, where we saw a sign in a gully area en route to the Park that read, "In case of high water, climb to higher ground."

DAD AND SON—Steve and Lise McLain have become grandparents again. Their son and his wife, Stephen and "Peachy" McLain of Hattiesburg, Miss., have a new son. Quinn Greggor McLain was born on Tuesday, April 11, and weighed 8 pounds, 13 ounces.

wonder what they expected us to do if the sign wasn't there.

We traveled from Strasburg, Colo., to Van Buren, Mo., via I-70 to Kansas City, Mo., and then via secondary roads "kitty-corner" from the northwest to southeast Missouri. Along the way, we discovered some rather unique place names for villages in Missouri. First, there was "Tightwad," and then "Peculiar," Missouri where "the odds are always with you." (According to the signpost.) Then there was "Climax Springs," "where we all pull together." (Another sign.) Finally, there was "Roach," Missouri, probably where you don't look under the sink.

Mary Bean and Arthur Hertell had Easter dinner with Debbie Hertell and her daughter, Kirsten, in Rumford. Linda Hertell and Mrs. and Walter Forbes of Lewiston came for dinner as well.

cost of various loads. Vouchers will be sold at Waterford Town Office, Stoneham Town Office, Melby's, Springer's, Kosi's, and AJ's. Questions should be addressed to Waterford Transfer Station Committee members and Waterford Town Selectmen. Please do not argue with the stores selling vouchers. They have no control nor do they decide what size load costs what. A dump trailer, for instance, will cost at least $200. That represents eight vouchers. Smaller loads will cost less. Furniture and mattresses will not cost anything. Small docks and ramps will.

Tires, refrigerators and washers/dryers are still free. Please be fair and only bring them in from one of the member towns. People bringing in trash, white goods, construction debris, tires, etc., from outside member towns will be asked to leave. Remember it is unfair to others in the towns to ask them to pay for what you bring in from other towns.

Have a great week and enjoy time off if you have it.

Congratulations to Private Alexis Grover who graduated from the National Guard base in Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. She is now receiving eight weeks more training in Gulfport, Miss., after which she will be home for a while before being deployed. We are proud of her and wish her the best. Alexis' mother, Tracy Poland, and sister, Samantha, and her father, Ken Grover, attended the graduation.

Barbara Cash has been really sick in a Portland hospital. I wish her a speedy recovery.

Happy Birthday to Vinny Lima on April 17.

Larry Billings, Curator, Woodstock Historical Society reports that at the April meeting of the society Annella Burnham organized a "Show and Tell" program. One of the most ingenious collections was tiny wooden furniture carved by Elaine Roberts.

There were also a donut stick, a cake mold, family photos, information on the old phones, a deed, etc. Mary Billings and Joyce Howe supplied refreshments. Curator Billings said

Cut energy bills and your taxes

New tax credits and deductions are available in 2006 that could lower both your energy bills and your taxes. You could qualify for tax credits if you purchase an alternative fuel vehicle (such as a hybrid car) or make energy-saving home improvements. Tax credits are also available to contractors who build energy-efficient homes and manufacturers of energy-efficient appliances. For details and tax assistance, contact our office.

he sent articles on our phones and switchboard to the papers and in the Sun Journal about the exhibit at the State Museum.

Quote of the Week: "I have learned that wrong numbers are never busy."

Locke Mills

by Lorraine
Larson

When God created this amazing world we all inhabit-it, He made it self-sustaining. He gave us oceans, lakes, mountains, deserts, forests and plains. We have sun for warmth, breezes to cool, rain and snow to nourish. He then created vegetation, animals, birds, fish and finally us.

Some vegetation, like trees, became home for birds, animals and us. It also became shade for other vegetation. Oceans and lakes contain fish, algae, water plants and other aquatic creatures. Mountains and deserts contain multiple varieties of plants, animals, birds and other living organisms. This whole ecosystem is self-sustaining and functioning, a beautiful sight to behold.

Plants and algae get nourishment from soil and water, animals and fish eat vegetation and one another, we eat fish, animals and vegetation. Even waste products become food for something, or nourishment of soil or water. What an incredible blessing.

Balance in all areas is the key to the success of this amazing creation. Destroying any one part affects the whole, destroying any one species means a food source for something else is obliterated. Every living thing on this earth, including humans are interconnected. We must all make a Herculean effort to respect and cherish one another and our surroundings. We all serve a purpose upon this earth.

Sitting around admiring the view is not enough, within that "view" are people going hungry, fish dying in polluted lakes, animals being slaughtered for sport and air is fouled by smoke and chemicals spewed from commercial businesses more concerned with the "bottom line" than ecology.

We live in a country of excesses, too much food, too much competition "keeping up with the Joneses," too many cars, toys, electronics, bigger houses, boats, burgers and even our own bodies. Bigger is not always better.

We need to live in harmony among one another and all the other creatures that also inhabit this wonderful world. We need also to preserve what we see within our "view" and add something positive for those who follow us. God's gifts are replenishable and never-ending but we must all do our part.

God Bless.

met on Monday, April 10, at the Grange Hall. Elizabeth Hoover filled in as chaplain. Eight members were present. Elsie took two new markers for the Dudley Road Cemetery. We may need to have the town order more markers for us. Please if you have a loved one who passed since last Memorial and is buried at the Lakeside or any Woodstock cemetery, let someone know so we can get a marker and flag by Memorial. You may call 665-2460 or 875-3800.

Elsie Bonney received an e-mail from California about how we run our fourth-grade essay contest for Memorial Day. George Gibbs will speak Memorial Day. Calls made were 17. Elsie Bonney received the mystery package. A report was given on the Senior Citizens dinner and new addresses and telephone numbers were updated for National. Next meeting will be May 8.

The Woodstock High School Alumni Committee met at Alice Hoyt's last Tuesday afternoon to start planning the Alumni Banquet, which will be on Saturday, June 10 at 6 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, Locke Mills. Classes of 1946 and 1956 and Telstar Seniors will be our guests. If you are a senior at Telstar and have a grandparent or great-grandparent, etc., that graduated from Woodstock High School you may apply for a $50 scholarship. Ask your guidance instructor.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; choir practice at 5 p.m.; evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting and Thursday at 9 a.m. is ladies prayer time. April 30 will be a church lunch and afternoon service with Pat Davis.

Bob Hoyt and dog, Sadie, visited with his parents, Ken and Alice, over the weekend.

Reservations are being sold in advance for the Oxford County Republican Candidate banquet and program on Saturday, May 13, at 5:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall at Locke Mills. The banquet will be chicken pie. There will be a silent auction and will include hand-painted stools by Mrs. Hooper, and many more hand crafted articles. Committee for this event is Mrs. Joan Putnam, and George Hooper, finance committee of the Woodstock Republican Town Committee. All candidates will be introduced and asked to speak.

At the April meeting of the Historical Society vice-president Annella Burnham conducted the meeting and her daughter, Joyce Howe, also attended. Ruth Cox gave the research report on fishing and the old rod and reel. She also received the mystery package, a chocolate rabbit. The program was show and tell. Annella Burnham showed a deed from the Longfellow family. Curator Larry brought an old photo of Princess Grace and talked about the Astor family. Mary Billings showed a notebook of family photos. Paul Billings offered an old video on the crank phones. Evelyn Bean told about the donut stick and a dish burned in the Chicago fire. Joyce Howe showed a cast iron cake mold. Elaine Roberts brought miniature furniture she carved from wood. Larry also reported some society members needed to get together and organize the research library again according to rules for society museums. More books have been added and the library needs to be re-arranged. The May meeting will be at the Museum. The Historical Museum is the bridge to the past. You can learn and grow there.

The State Museum has opened an exhibit on the Bryant Pond Telephone Company. The Woodstock Museum also has an old switchboard and four telephones operating in the museum. As far as they know it is the only place in town they still have one. The Historical Society Museum is a historical and cultural center for the area. It is a representative New England museum and features the decorative arts. They have furniture, glass, china, quilts, costumes, tools, farm items, local memorabilia, old photos, tins, books, a couple of signs and all the research of Historian Ruby Emery. Why not join and support your Historical Society?

Greetings from the Virgin Islands! By the time you read this, we'll be back on the Flat Road, but right now Mike and I are celebrating fifty years of wedded bliss by staying at Canoe Bay Resort on St. John Island.

Twenty-five years ago we marked our silver anniversary with a week on St. Thomas, also in the US Virgin Islands. A day trip to St. John back then left a lasting impression, and we decided to return for our golden year.

While it's early spring in Bethel, the weather here could pass for high summer. So far we have resisted using the air conditioning, but my resolve is weakening under stress of 82-degree nights. Beautiful as it is, it is just too hot for this Maine resident.

Most of the island is National Park, thanks to the generosity of Laurance Rockefeller. He bought a small resort here in 1952, developed it, and then donated it to Jackson Hole Preserve, Inc., a nonprofit conservation organization founded and supported by the Rockefeller family. Jackson Hole Preserve then bought several thousand more acres, to comprise nearly 2/3 of the island, and donated it to the Federal Government for creation of a National Park in 1956. The wildlife, natural beauty, and historical sites are still preserved for the enjoyment of all visitors to St. John.

One of the popular pastimes on the island is snorkeling. We have donned masks and fins in several of the sparkling bays, with our favorite being Hawksnest Bay. We've seen all sorts of fish, from tiny baitfish, to colorful tangs and parrotfish, to gars and barracudas. There is also a great variety of coral, although, alas, noticeably less than back in 1981.

The coral reefs of the world are in big trouble and in danger of dying out. One of the biggest thrills I had snorkeling was a close-up underwater view of a brown pelican diving and snagging a good-sized fish, wrestling it around, and swallowing it. We've often seen their dives from the surface, but not from below.

True to form, we broke the local drought. Last Thursday morning we collected our fly fishing gear and took one of the island taxis to Leinster Bay in search of bonefish. We no sooner had the rods set up than a huge black cloud loomed in the east and quickly moved our way, dumping torrential rain and wind on our parade. Since we were wet anyway, we waded out as soon as the wind let up a bit and tried our luck. Mike hooked three or four barracuda, which bit the leader right off, along with his hand-tied flies. Sad to say, neither of us had so much as a nibble from a bonefish.

By afternoon the sun returned, but then it rained hard all night and part of the next morning, when we took a boat trip to Virgin Gorda in the British Virgin Islands. Since we "left the country," we had to go through customs in both directions — no big deal as we weren't gone long enough to do any shopping.

Almost any time of day one can see feral donkeys wandering the premises and hear an occasional "hee haw." They don't seem particularly bothered by the presence of humans, but we were told not to feed them or try to pet them. A wild animal is by definition "wild," and can behave so without warning. We've also seen a few white-tail deer, albeit a smaller race than those in Maine.

In addition to the laughing gulls at the beach, we've spotted a number of unfamiliar birds but have succeeded in identifying only a few (we left the Sibley's Guide at home, alas). One regular visitor to our patio as we enjoy a pre-dinner drink we have dubbed the "beggar bird." It is a Pearly-eyed Thrasher. They are quite tame and will land within inches to snatch a little piece of pretzel.

Then there is the very large, 15 to 17 inches, red-necked pigeon which perches in a big tree nearby and appears to be dining on insects on the blossoms. An all-brown dove the size of the mourning is the Zanaida Dove. The Zanaida forages on the ground and behaves very much like its cousin.

There are three kinds of hummingbirds in the islands, of which we've seen two, the crested hummingbird and the magnificent hummingbird (which is wren-sized).

Then there are the chameleons which hop, skip, and scoot all over the place, up, down, and across whatever. I hope their diet includes mosquitoes, because there are certainly plenty around. I've gotten more bites in a week than I've had over the past three years in Bethel. I guess my system just can't adjust to a different variety of biting bug.

We've enjoyed our stay in the tropics but look forward to real spring in the North Country. We'll take pleasure in the emergence of both garden flowers and wildflowers, as well as the return of the summer bird population. Don't forget to call or write with news: 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lovejoy will be celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary on April 27. Cards should be addressed to PO Box 5, West Bethel, ME 04286.

The Lovejoy clan gathered at the home of Dorothy, Ray and Rebecca West in Rumford on Easter Sunday for a combination Easter/Birthday dinner. Attending from West Bethel were: Alfred, Stella, Cleve, Kathryn, Alanson and Tyrene Lovejoy; from Gorham, N.H., Shane, Lisa and Kyle Lovejoy; from Bethel, Rick, Ellen, Andy and Danny Whitney; and from Oxford, Pat Day.

Boneless breast of chicken with all the fixings is the menu planned for Saturday, April 29, when the First Congregational Church will again hold its annual Birthday Supper in the Christian Education Building. Early arrivals can expect to be served at 5 p.m., with other seatings to follow, according to Ron Adams, chairman of the event that has been a tradition for as long as local residents can remember. Dennis Bodemer is assisting Adams with planning for the supper. In addition to great food, those attending the birthday Supper will discover on entering the CEB that each table is festively decorated to represent the months of January through December, as well as the four seasons. Judy Michaud has lined up the following women to provide a unique birthday cake for their individually decorated tables: Eda Perkins (January), Carolyn Merrill and Pat Thurston (February), Emily Bodemer (March), Beverly Swan (April), Jane Rich and Shirley Gammon (May), Sharon Hutchins and Nancy Wardwell (June), Laura Hutchins and Judy Michaud (July), Sandra Wainwright, Betty Moore and Bea Schneider (August), Betsy Beelanger and Philena Chaisson (September), Cindy Gammon (October), Linda Percival (No-

Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers.
What a great day this is!

Albert Nelson Jr. has begun his spring work in the cemeteries. He had a new helper today, a pretty little blonde. Welcome to the crew, Cathy.

Everybody in Stoneham — don't forget the public meeting April 20 at the community Room at the Fire Station in regard to helping the Stoneham Church to keep alive. Any suggestions or help is very welcome and needed. Can we do the suppers or thrift and bake sales again? Craft sales? Any volunteers to man these projects?

Eloise Vail is at home from the hospital now. Glad you're home, Eloise, and continue to gain.

The triplets have been born this past week. Erika and Travis Fox will be busy now. I believe their names are Sierra, Cheyenne and Dakota. Congratulations to you all, and I hope everything goes well.

Another new baby has been born. Her name is Addison Belle Guptil. Congratulations to you Heidi and John Guptil. I have been told that she is a sweet little girl.

Albert and I went to Norway today (April 12) to the Stephens Memorial Hospital for lab work. I think he's getting used to my driving. I don't think there were any complaints — glory be! He even paid for my lunch at Burger King.

This past weekend, Sharon Berman from Massachusetts and Cheryl Barnard from Virginia came to visit us. There were seven of us Saturday night to a scallop dinner, Dale and Kitty Nelson, Albert Jr. and us. They paid for the scallops and much more and I cooked them and we ate them. They were awful good. It's always fun to have the "kids" come home. They helped an awful lot.

OK, another baby in town. Kim and Pat Carson of Stoneham are pleased to announce the arrival of a baby boy, Jacob River Carson. He was born on April 1 at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway. Jacob has a sister, Brook, age 3, and Sierra, age 1, and a brother, Colton, age 5. What a nice family and congratulations to you all.

East Stoneham columnist Eleanor Nelson suffered a stroke last week and is currently a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

Bethel Senior Citizens Club met at the Locke Mills Legion Hall April 12, at 11 a.m., for their meeting and luncheon with 36 members present. President Nancy Mercer conducted the meeting and led the salute to the flag. Reports were given by Jane Hosterman and Arlene Lowell.

The raffle, which was a bouquet of flowers donated by Grace Douglass, was won by Shirley Lowell. The door prize was won by Ruth Hazelton.

The next meeting is May 10 at the West Bethel Grange Hall. The meeting will start at 11 a.m.; price of dinner is $6.

Humorous readings were done by Nancy Mercer, Dorothy York, Musa Brown, Rosella Tiffi, Cecile Lescault and Jane Hosterman.

Ginny Walker and Lynn Arizzi, members of the Western Mountains Senior Players put on a skit entitled "Widows" that was enjoyed by all.

April birthdays: Ruth Bethel, Rose Dyer, Emma Page, Jane Hosterman, JoAnn Royer, Doris Ouellette and Barbara Douglass.

"The greatest strength of this team appears to be depth," said Coach Bob Remington. "There are multiple players at every position, which will create competition within the team for playing time. This is a great motivational advantage. In early pre-season games, hitting, especially amongst the seniors, has been a team strength. If there is a weakness, it might be experience, as 11 of the 16 players are on the varsity for the first time."

Gould 8, Telstar 3; April 15— Gould's Gary Rumley pitched a strong five innings and Will Carver finished the last two as Gould won their home opener against Telstar, 8-3. Will Carver had a great day at the plate with four hits, three RBIs and two runs scored. Owen Barter helped out with two RBIs and Tom Duggan had multiple hits. Also contributing to the offense were Bump Heldman, Gary Rumley, Seth Gray and Will Pickard with one hit each. Heldman collected three walks to help the cause. Head Coach Alec Newell "could not be happier with the effort and attitude of all on the team."

Gould 5, Fryeburg 0; April 10— Leo Leonardi pitched a complete game shutout and received errorless support from his defense as Gould beat Fryeburg 5-0. Leonardi struck out 10 and walked five in his effort. Will Carver led the offense with two hits and scored two runs. Gary Rumley contributed two RBIs as well. Also collecting hits were Owen Barter, Bump Heldman, Leo Leonardi, Seth Gray, Will Pickard, Gary Rumley and Tom Duggan.

High School J.V. Baseball

North Yarmouth Academy 20, Gould 3; April 12— NYA led a good contest 6-2 entering the 6th inning. However, NYA took advantage of some inexperienced pitching to break the game open late in the game. Brian Murphy led the Huskies offensively, reaching base each time at bat, stealing a base and scoring the final Gould run in the sixth.

High School Varsity Tennis

Gould 4, Hebron 1; April 12— The women's varsity tennis team beat Hebron 4 to 1 at Gould. Eliza van Herden won in two sets 6-2, 6-1, Shannon Littlefield won in two sets 6-1, 6-0, Alli Flynn and Neena Breijer won at first doubles 6-0, 6-1 and Clare Adams and Kelly Kenyon won at second doubles 6-2, 6-0. Lauren Flynn lost a three set match 6-4, 4-6, 4-6.

High School Varsity Softball

NYA 8, Gould 0; April 12— The Huskies started strong against North Yarmouth, and trailed just 1-0 at the end of the fourth inning. However, NYA had a big fourth inning, scoring four runs on three singles and two walks. Gould had a difficult time generating offense and had just two hits on the day. Michaela Cummings and Danielle McKay Mudge each had a single.

High School J.V. Softball

Brewster Academy 9, Gould 4; April 15— Despite losing to Brewster Academy 9-4, Coach Caddie Jackson was very proud of her student-athletes. This was not only their first game, but for many it was their first time on a full-length field with lines. Gould had as many opportunities to score as Brewster, but the lack of experience challenged the ability to capitalize.

TELSTAR SCIENCE TEAM—Telstar Middle School sent 14 students to the Regional Science Fair, held April 13 at the University of Maine Farmington. Many of them placed in the competition. Front: Alice Hotopp (Third place, Seventh grade Physical Science), Natasha Farnum (Second, Sixth Gr. Biological), Amber Davis (Second, Eighth Gr. Biological), Michael MacKnight (Second, Eighth Gr. Physical), Jamie Steven (Fourth, Seventh Gr. Physical), Emily DeCarolis, Victoria Forkus (First, Seventh Gr. Physical), Samantha Southam (Fifth, Seventh Gr. Physical), Naomi Ellsworth (Third, Sixth Gr. Biological). Back: Megan Bonney (First, Eighth Gr. Biological), Tyler Aldrich (First, Eighth Gr. Physical), James Piccirillo (First, Sixth Gr. Physical), Matthew Keane (Fourth, Sixth Gr. Physical), Abbie Goldberg (Third, Sixth Gr. Physical).

"Eli Wiesel: Surviving the Holocaust, Speaking Out Against Genocide."

It has been over 60 years since the Holocaust but there is one day each year for remembrance of the six million Jews who died and of those who suffered and fought against genocide.

Moore's book is one in a series written for high school students, "Holocaust Heroes and Nazi Criminals." Each book covers a key person — hero or criminal — involved with the Holocaust. The victims and survivors of the Holocaust and as well as those who perpetrated it include Wiesel, Anne Frank, Oskar Schindler, Raoul Wallenberg, and Adolf Hitler, Adolf Eichmann, and Heinrich Himmler.

She met Eli Wiesel while she was in college at the University Of Notre Dame and hopes to present him with a copy of her biography of him this year.

A ninth-grade class from Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School will take part in a morning program of remembrance at the library. Students of Kristi Boucher and Donna McCarthy have studied the Holocaust. In addition to hearing Lisa Moore's reading, they will preview books written for young adults about the Holocaust and watch a video of Eli Wiesel.

Lisa Moore, poet, teacher, and freelance writer, lives in Harrison. She has published single poems in journals such as The Portland Review, Potato Eyes, The Sow's Ear, and Without Halos. She has also published five collections of poetry; one, There is a Crooked River, offers poems about the Maine woods for young readers. In 2003, she created the Haiku Project, a combination of writing, performance, and visual art.

The reading is open to the public. Please call 743-5309 for more information.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

David R. Jones, a graduate student at the University of Southern Maine's American and New England Studies program, will be joining the Bethel Historical Society as a summer intern in 2006, according to Stanley R. Howe, Ph.D., executive director of the society. "We are delighted to have someone of Professor Jones' caliber join us," said Howe in making the announcement. "It is one more step in our evolution as a leader in New England local and regional history," he added.

Jones, who holds a B.A., magna cum laude, from the State University of New York at Buffalo, also received a Ph.D. in British history from Yale University. He is currently studying New England history at the University of Southern Maine and is opting for an intern experience in public history (history as practiced by museums and historical societies as opposed to that featured in colleges and universities) by working from mid-June through mid-August at the society's Regional History Center where he will be involved in a myriad of activities including guided tours, special events, historical editing, collection management and exhibits.

For over 20 years, Professor Jones has taught courses in higher education and British history at a number of Australian universities. He has received a number of fellowships and served on several editorial boards. He is the author and/or editor with others of several books and articles and has contributed to other works in the fields of history and higher education.

St. Never's Day

Donations are being solicited for the society's annual St. Never's Day sale on Saturday, May 27. Items in good saleable condition (no clothing or computers, please) can be left on the back porch of the O'Neil Robinson House, 10 Broad Street and the side porch of Stan Howe at 18 Broad Street. Watch for further notice to include opportunities for others to join this sale and make it even bigger and better than ever. For pick-up of items,

Maine Filmmakers Program Focuses on Bethel

The Celebration of Maine Filmmakers traveling program will bring a day of award-winning Maine films to Bethel on Thursday, April 27, At 7 p.m. In Bingham Hall on Gould Academy's campus, there will be screening of Maine films that is free and open to the public. Earlier in the day a film workshop will be held at Telstar Regional High School for Telstar and Gould Academy students interested in the art of filmmaking. Students will view several films and meet with the filmmakers responsible for making the films.

The Celebration of Maine Filmmakers traveling program was developed by the Maine Film Office to showcase the works of Maine-based filmmakers and to provide educational opportunities for people interested in film. The traveling program is supported by a grant from the Maine Community Foundation and comes to the Bethel area with the help of the Mahoosuc Arts Council.

The Celebration originated at the Maine International Film Festival in Waterville about five years ago. It started with a simple afternoon of screenings of Maine-made films and has grown to include three competitions — the Maine Screenwriting Competition, the Maine Short Film Competition and the Maine Documentary Film Competition as well as workshops and seminars.

Maine has many talented film and video artists whose work is seen everywhere from local theaters to national TV networks. On April 27, the public is invited to watch some of the best works by Maine's professional, amateur and student filmmakers and talk to some filmmakers about their work. Celebration screenings include works from the Maine Documentary Film and Maine Short Film competitions. For more information, contact the Mahoosuc Arts Council at 824-3575.

please call the society office at 824-2908.

Bus Tour to Portland

Participants in the June 23 bus tour visit to the Wadsworth-Longfellow and Tate houses must be members of the Western Mountains Senior College or the Bethel Historical Society. The tour is limited to 40 on a first come-first serve basis. Those taking the tour may bring their lunch or have a meal in any one of the several nearby restaurants. The deadline for registration is June 10. Checks for $25 to cover transportation and museum admission should be made payable to Western Mountains Senior College and be mailed to WMSC, P.O. Box 1305, Bethel, ME 04217. For more information, please call Jackie Cressy of WMSC (824-0508) or the Bethel Historical Society (824-2908).

With nearly 1,400 members, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For forty years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, or by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the society's website at www.bethelhistorical.org.

SCHOOL NEWS FROM AROUND THE DISTRICT

Kindergarten students in MSAD #44 have been learning about a foreign country in conjunction with the Maine Learning Results. Pictured above are students enjoying a taste of China as they sample a variety of Chinese food using chopsticks.

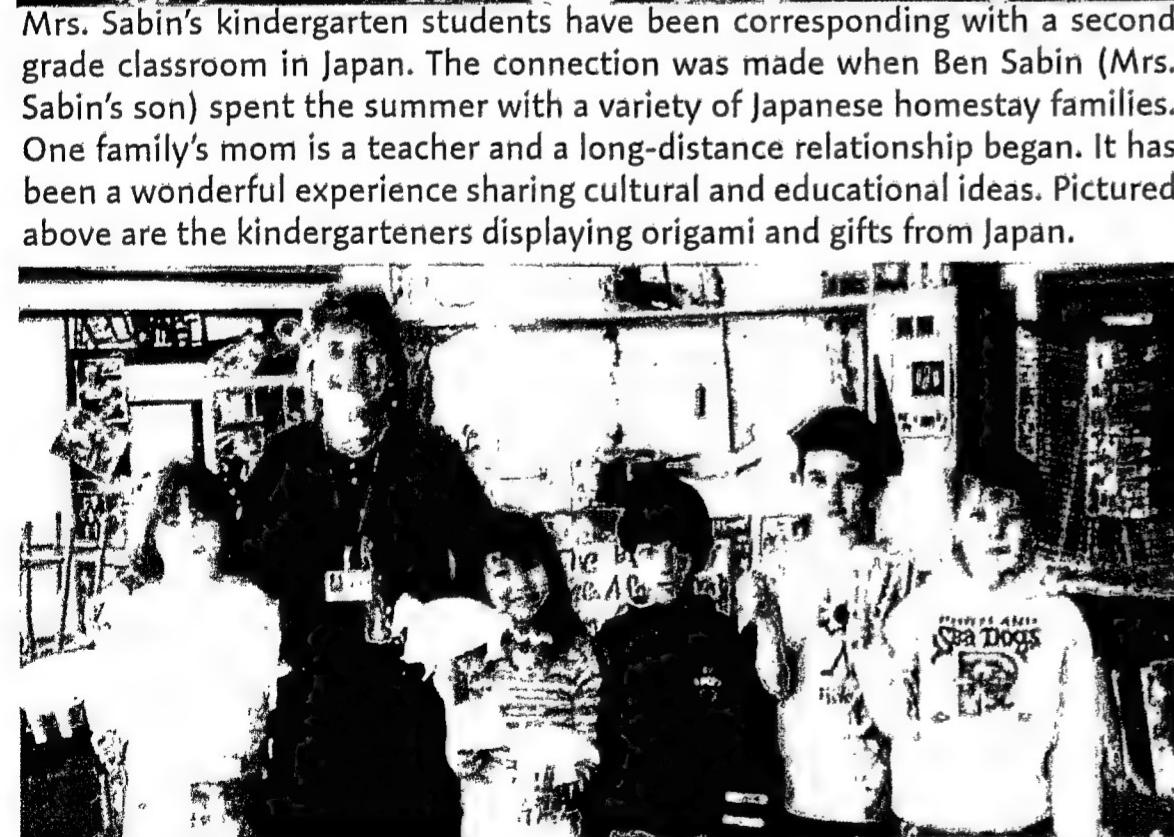

Eighty-eight percent of Woodstock Elementary's students came to enjoy WES' "Spring into Math" night. Those 54 students brought 69 guests with them, totaling 123 people gathering for hands-on learning of math concepts. Grade 4 had the greatest attendance with 89 percent of their class participating in the math activities. Grade 1 wasn't far behind with 80 percent coming in to make Friples, count back their change, play fraction BINGO, and win the contents of estimation jars filled with goodies. Grade 3 was next for participation with 10/13ths of their class springing into math night. Seven elevenths of the WES' full-time employees came to enjoy the festivities as well. Thank you, family and friends, for making this year's Math Night a great success!

Mrs. Sabin's kindergarten students have been corresponding with a second grade classroom in Japan. The connection was made when Ben Sabin (Mrs. Sabin's son) spent the summer with a variety of Japanese homestay families. One family's mom is a teacher and a long-distance relationship began. It has been a wonderful experience sharing cultural and educational ideas. Pictured above are the kindergarteners displaying origami and gifts from Japan.

Nancy Houston, Martha Siegel, Jessika Myers, Andrew Siegel, Caleb Clarke, and Brendon Stearns hold up puppets that they made for the puppet show, The Bojabi Tree. After learning a multicultural unit on Africa, these students, with the guidance of volunteer Martha Siegel, worked hard to put on an African folktale puppet show. The students are second graders in Mrs. Steele's class. They attend Crescent Park School in Bethel.

The Open Doors Concert Series at Second Congregational Church in Norway presents The Vocal Solution

An a cappella octet, on Sunday, April 30, 2006 at 4:00 pm. This group of talented singers from the Oxford Hills, Poland and Bridgton, Maine came into being in January of 1997 with the idea of creating an ensemble of experienced voices to produce beautiful four-part harmony. Their repertoire ranges from Renaissance madrigals to traditional spirituals and contemporary/popular arrangements. Vocal Solution has performed at a number of community events, church services, at the Maine Music Society's "Battle of the Blends", and as the featured guests of the Royal River Chorus, a Yarmouth-based World Champion Sweet Adeline chorus. Vocal Solution has recently released a CD filled with crowd favorites from their many years of singing together.

There is no charge for admission, but donations will be accepted at the door. Refreshments will be served following the performance. Second Congregational Church is located at the Corner of Paris and Main Streets in Norway. Plan to finish raking that lawn early and attend this exceptional event on Sunday, April 30 at 4:00 pm.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

LET A PROFESSIONAL SELL YOUR HOME

It is not unusual for homeowners to yield to the temptation to try to sell their own home. It seems easy enough - just place an ad in the weekend paper and wait for buyers to show up. Although it may seem easy, real estate sales are extremely complicated transactions.

The first pitfall can come with pricing your property realistically. Homeowners often price their property too high initially, then in a panic, drastically slash the price. Even if a buyer agrees to the initial asking price, there could be trouble if the buyers begin to feel that they have agreed to pay too much or if the lender's appraisal values the property at far less than the agreed-upon price. Some of our clients hired us to market their home professionally after weeks or months of trying to sell their home, or after their transaction fell through.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

The days pass by, I cannot lie and time just seems to slip away. But day by day, the time stands still since you have gone away. The sun might shine, but in my mind, it's always a cloudy day. The days are not the same no matter what anyone does say. I feel you sometimes in a breeze and hear you in the trees. Just to hear your laugh again and to see your smile. Would make me feel the happiest that I have been in a long while. If only our prayers were answered and you could have stayed. Things would not be as they are and would have stayed the same. I miss you more and more each day and as the years pass by, The closer it will be for us to be together again and finally be happy and to smile.

*Love,
Mom
XOXO*

Card of Thanks

To the Stephens Memorial Hospital staff for the great care while in the hospital.

The flowers and cards, calls I received while in the hospital and after I came home.

*Thanks Again,
Phyllis Blake*

Card of Thanks

To my daughter, Elaine Newell, I thank you for your tireless devotion to your grandmother, my mother, for the past 7 years. Your grandmother's last years were made better not only for her but also for the rest of the family because of all you did. It was a blessing to have a caring and competent person to turn to when we needed someone. Time and again you stayed late at "the farm" to accommodate others and you were often on-call, especially in recent years, and would be there whenever you were needed - often dropping what you were doing to be at your grandmother's side. Again, thank you for your commitment for the sake of our family.

*Lovingly,
Your Mother, Harriet Estes*

BRUCE GRAHAM TAYLOR

Bruce Graham Taylor, 59, died at Maine Medical Center, Portland, of a brain hemorrhage on Feb. 16, 2006.

He was born in New London, Conn., on April 3, 1946, the second son of George L. and Lillian Faye (Sanborn) Taylor. After his father's retirement from the Coast Guard, the family settled in Bethel on the Flat Road and later in The Park, Bethel, where Bruce graduated from Gould Academy in 1966.

After Gould, he studied business at Franklin Pierce College, Husson College and the University of Southern Maine.

Bruce married Sheryl and they became the parents of four children, Heather, Shelly and twins Trevor and Lindsay.

He was employed by Acme Engineering until 1985, when he started his own general contracting business under the name of Spectrum Builders.

Bruce loved to cook and possessed a strong interest in history, politics and current events.

He was an avid reader, hunter and fisherman, enjoying the outdoors, especially in the Bethel area.

He was a fan of the NFL's New York Giants with a great sense of humor and an ability to make light of any situation.

Bruce was an organ donor. With his death, the lives of others were extended and improved.

Bruce was preceded in death by his parents. He is survived by his wife Sheryl; daughter Heather Oatley, son-in-law Michael and granddaughter Teegan of Lyons, Colo.; daughter Shelby Wintle, son-in-law Michael, granddaughter Tala and grandson Brady of Gorham; daughter Lindsay Peters, son-in-law David and grandsons Hayden and Benjamin of South Portland; son Trevor of South Portland and his beloved Labrador retriever, Zeke. He also leaves a brother, Kent and his wife Ruth of Portland, a nephew Joshua, and a grandnephew Eli.

A private service was held for the family. In lieu of flowers, the family requested donations to the National Kidney Foundation of Maine, P.O. Box 1134, Portland, ME 04104-1134.
